Timelimit If user clicks "and has a time limit of" then user can select the hours and minutes. If user leaves both pulldowns to zero, then it will generate an error when Save is attempted. NOTE: lastest feedback to SAM-1752 asked to replace time limit selector with textbox for minutes. If still desired, can take this up when SAM-1752 is tackled, because it makes more sense in that context. submit saved student work	Availability and Submissions
"submissions will be accepted until the due date" replaces late handling. I'm not sure ho late handling works but what this might do in the background is make the submission accepted until date the same as the due date. Having a radio button that does this, rather than requiring user to copy and paste the due date is just a convenience. If they select "until the due date" and don't enter a valid due date, as pictured they wi get an error.	w this many times beginning It is due and has a time limit of unlimited (if left blank) immediately (if left bl
